

David Walliams

The Boy in the Dress

"Orange is really not your colour."

"You poor boy, expelled just for not wearing the correct school uniform. Darvesh never told me, what exactly were you wearing?"

"Well," Dennis paused, before continuing in a serious tone. "I went to school wearing an orange sequined dress."

There was silence for a moment.

"Oh, Dennis," she said. "What a terrible thing to do!"
Dennis paled.

"I mean, orange is really not your colour Dennis," she continued. "With your light hair you would probably look better in a pastel colour like pink or baby blue."

Can you design a new dress for Dennis?